Leading From Inside To Progress Freedom

Leadership has become the quintessential 21st century catch word. Nations, organizations, communities and individuals can trace the engine force of their success to one word; Leadership.

While leaders have always been challenged to lead from the front, there is an urgent need for leaders to lead from inside.

Leading from inside will not only develop the leaders but the people they lead. If Africa is to take responsibility for her freedom, then a paradigm shift from showbiz leadership and flamboyant drama by her leaders will have to be changed into value-based, integrity-centered leadership.

Key Points:

1. Reflection of where we stand today.
2. Changing our mentality about leadership
3. Developing character
4. Acting from inside.
